Cyanocobalamin (Vitamin B12)	40 mcg
Excipient c.b.p.	1 mL

Benzamin B12 is a blood antiparasitic with vitamin B12 (which stimulates the production of erythrocytes) and antipyrine (which decreases fever and improves the animal's physical shape).

- The use of Benzamin B12 is recommended to eliminate the protozoa that causes babesiosis and trypanosomiasis, as well as their accompanying symptoms in Dairy Cattle, horses and Dogs.
- Normally a rapid and satisfactory response is achieved after administration of Benzamin B12 during the infection's early stages, before it causes acute anemia or affects the nervous system.

Benzamin B12 allows an enzootic balance, which consists on not eliminating 100% of the parasites, which stimulates the creation of antibodies in the animal, which creates safer immunity conditions. Generally the body temperature drops 24 to 48 hours after administering treatment reducing death indexes.

DRUG USE

The use of Benzamin B12 is recommended to eliminate the protozoa that causes babesiosis and trypanosomiasis in Dairy Cattle, horses and Dogs. DOSAGE 3.50 mg of Diminazene per kg or 1 mL per every 12 kg. The vial's content, 25 mL, is for 300 kg.

Frequency: Normally one dose is enough, if necessary, repeat the dose every 24 hours no more than 3 times according to prescription.

ROUTE OF ADMINISTRATION

Deep intramuscular, it should not be administered any other way.
